POLICE AND FIRES

A Bold East Helena Burglar Cleverly Caught and the Swag Recovered.

An Unsuccessful Attempt by a Crack Burglar to Ply His Vocation.

Two Fires Yesterday-The Telegraph Office and Oil House Burned at the Depot.

A clever capture of an East Helena burglar was made yesterday morning. The burglar refused to give his name, but he is known to be Charles Maguire, and was at one time a member of the Marysville base-one time a member of the Marysville base-one time a member of the Marysville base-out all night, besides a number of police-out the medicine left for her. She remained away from the room some time and upon Mr. Kemp calling to his wife and receiving no reply he got up and saw that the kitchen door leading to the yard was opened. He searched around the house and seeing no trace of Mrs. Kemp, became alarmed, aroused the neighborhood and several searching parties were organized who were out all night, besides a number of policearoused the neighborhood and several searching parties were organized who were out all night, besides a number of policemen. Search was made in the graveyard, it having been thought she might have gone to visit the graves of her children. It was concluded that the thief, believing he was on his way to the their, believing he was on his way to Helena. They judged rightly, and overtook their man about half way and drawing revolvers on him held him up and recovered the stolen articles. They then escorted him to the city, making him foot it. All went well until they were in the vicinity of the Central school building, when the burglar escaped and ran up stars to a room in the Atlantic hotel. Officers Quentin and Tracy found Maguire just in the act of leaping from the second story. He was again taken into custody and placed in the county jail. Later in the day he was bronght into Judge Howey's court for a preliminary hearing, but he waived examination and his case was set for trial next Monday.

served out a one year's term in the peni tentiary, and yesterday morning he started in on his old game again, but accidentally his plans were nipped in the bud. Just as day was breaking in through the smoky sky Lewis entered Mike Jacoby's saloon on upper Main street. A clever dodge of his was to take off his shoes and lay his ha to one side. Chas. Latch, the bartender had closed the doors a few minutes before and Lewisjwas welljaware of this. An East Helena man approached Latch, and after an exchange of greetings the latter invited his friend to take a drink. As they entered the saioon Allen took a header for the floor and feigned sleep, but he was not quick enough, as Latch saw him trying to force the money drawer open. An officer was called and Lewis was taken to jail, protesting that he was not a thief and as an excuse said he was drunk and fell to sleep. He could not explain about the shees and hat, however. It is supposed he intended burgiar-izing a pawn shop, which occupies a part of the saloon, and is separated from it by a board partition, but gave up the job as daylight was fast approaching. Lewis' wife said she had been married twentyseven years and her husband never pro-vided for her, and she didn't care if he was sent to the penitentiary.

Two Fires in One Day.

The resonant sounds of the bell in the tower gave warning about 8 o'clock last evening of a fire in the vicinity of box 62. The bell had not ceased ringing when Fireman Greenwalt dashed down Main street the fire which was at the Northern Pacific depot, the yard telegraph office and brakemen's bunk being a mass of flames. Four good streams with 160 pounds pressure from the delegation was emphatically opposed to the Woolston works were getting in their work and in a short time the fire was under control. The fire did not endanger any other building as it was by itself. A Dose of Morphine and Dilerium Tr mens Cut a Life Short.

Holmes Grover Jr., who has for severa months past been the leading actor of the Coliseum, died at 3:20 yesterday afternoon, from the effects of a dose of morphin which had been given him while suffering from delirium tremens.

The deceased had been indulging drink to excess for the past ten days and during the time had not taken any food. He appeared in his part in "Uncle Sam's Cabin" regularly and Thursday night after he had finished sought some rest. He craved something to drink and his wife, who was beside him, sent for a physician. After trying to secure several physicians without avail, Dr. Kellogg was induced to go, and he was induced to go, and he gave Grover a grain of morphine and left a solution of morphia in a glass near the hedded. whether Grover drank the whole contents of the glass during an absence of two min utes, the only time his wife left his side as about 1 o'clock, and it was soon red that the unfortunate man was Dr. Kellogg was again summoned dying. Dr. Kellogg was again summoned and Dr. Rawson was also called, and great efforts were made to restore Grover to consciousness. A priest was also called in An electric battery was applied, but owing to the fact that the man had nothing on his stomach, the pump was not applied. Willing hands then began, under direction of the physicians, to beat the body and slap the hands. Then the man was placed in a the physicians, to beat the body and slap the hands. Then the man was placed in a blanket and thrown up and down in the air in the vain effort to restore life. This was kept up for over fourteen hours. On two occasions the case looked hopeful, especially yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, when he was able to stand up, open his eyes and talk at random, but he was not conscious. About half an hour before the end a physician, it is said, gave the man some ether and he was dead soon the man some ether and he was dead soon

Grover was not addicted to the use of opiates. It was the first time he ever took morphine, and this fact, coupled with the condition of his system, was the cause of his death. He leaves a wife and daughter to mourn his loss.

Holmes Grover, Jr., was 44 years of age and was very widely known in the vaude-ville circle, in which, as well as the legitimate, he gained quite a reputation as an actor. He had hosts of friends and his only enemy was himself. In California he was known as the "California Boy." He was the original "Boy Detective," and probably his greatest triumph was the production of that blood-curdling drams, "The Jesse James Boys," of which he was the author. He was the son of J. Holmes Grover, of Philadelphia, who is well known as an author and a playwright and was a writer for the Philadelphia Ledger. The deceased was a printer, and a member in good standing of the typographical union. The funeral will take this afternoon from No. 15 Bridge street, at 3 o'clock. Remembered by the Boys. prised last night by being presented with the Montana Central. E. H. Duncan B. Harrison's new military drams, "The Paymaster," will be presented for the first time in Helena, at Ming's opera house. Monday night There is a companying, as a slight token of opera house, Monday night. There is a wholesomeness, force of character, and enobling influence about the play, which, by a series of elaborate stage pictures and praiseworthy acting is developed con-sistently and naturally. There is a spien-did moral in the piay, and the actors are intelligent in their delineations. Mr. Har-rison, in the leading role, works hard and earnestly.

SPOKANE FALLS, W. T., Aug. 28 .- [Speial to the Independent. ]-A great sensation was produced in Waterville and through the Big Bend country, a few days ago, by the surrender of Manfred Paine, alias Engel. For three years he has been an outlaw and the terror of the officers and citizens. He made his home in the mountains and coulees, only appearing at intervals to procure provisions and ammunition. When pursued by officers he fled into the trees warning his pursuers to halt or suffer the consequences. He came to Washington from Missouri with his father, whose real name was Campbell Engel. A reward of $1,000 was offered in Missouri for the apprehension of the old man, who was harged with murder. Constable Jack Hubbard, of this city, located him in the countains, to the west of the Grand Coulee, 130 miles from here, and innote was found on a chair in the house after the sad occurrence.
